

Interview questions:

- Marlins: What are you looking for in a college?
- Marlins: When choosing between colleges, how will you balance between your baseball, academic and career interests? For example, if your baseball skills put you at a D1 level but your academic and career interests were best served at a small, private college, how will you make the choice between schools?
- Marlins: Have you participated in any baseball showcase events, and if so, what was your experience like?
- Marlins: How do you see yourself contributing to a college baseball team?
- Marlins: What is the biggest thing you'll carry forward from the Marlins to your college career?
- Marlins: Could you please describe your ideal baseball practice?
- Marlins: What quality in a coach do you value most and why?
- Marlins: What do you find the most challenging about baseball?
- Marlins: Who has influenced your game the most, and why?
- Marlins: What is the best baseball advice you've been given?
- Marlins: If you could share baseball advice, what would you share, and why?
- Marlins: How important is it to be able to take feedback - even when it hurts or builds you up - and why?
- Marlins: How do you manage your off-field activities – diet, hydration, workouts, sleep – to make your game the best?
- Marlins: Do you work on your mental game, and if so, how?
- Marlins: How important is good team chemistry, and why?
- Marlins: Do you use your status as a baseball player – a successful baseball player – to influence your school, if so, how?
